The Child-Dyke.

Holland is a beautiful country, full of green fields, with cattle and sheep grazing in the pastures; but there are few trees and no hills to be seen.

The ground is so flat and low that two or three times the sea has rushed in over parts of it and destroyed whole towns. In one of these floods, about two hundred years ago, more than twenty thousand people were drowned.

A large part of the water that came in at the time of that flood still remains. It is known as "the Mass," and in one part of it there is a little green islanda part of an old dyke or dam-which is called the "kinder-dyke," or child- naked skeleton who gathers rags from dyke; and it got its name in this the gutters. To the high and the low,

The waters rushed in over one of the young, the good and the bad, it is free little Friesland villages, and no one had -the wonderful, the beautiful, the mysany warning. In one of the houses terious-The Land of Dreams. there lay a child asleep in its cradle an old-fashioned cradle, made tight and friend, probably purring away as comfortably as possible. In came the waters with a learful roar. The old cat, in her fright, jumped into the cradle with the Laby, who slept through all the turmoil as quietly as ever. The house was torn from its foundations and broken in pieces. But the little cradle floated out on the angry sea in that dark night, bearing safely its precious burden.

When morning came there was nothing to be seen of the village and green meadows. All was water. Hundreds in morphine and opium is making its of people were out in boats, trying to save as many lives as possible; and on this little bit of an island what do you think they found? Why, that same old cradle, with the baby asleep in it, and sufferers from narcotism through the the old cat curled up at her feet, all safe and sound!

Where the little voyagers came from, and to whom they belonged, no one could tell. But, in memory of them, this little island was called "kinderdyke"-child-dyke-and it goes by that name to this day.

A Happy Land. BY ADDIE BELMONT.

Young Folks' Rural. The elegant and lovely daughters of Fashion each year repair to some place for rest and repose. The journey to the selected spot is generally made after the Winter's parties, balls, and teasts are over. A large and elegant wardrobe is prepared and almost a fortune expended that these favored ones may gain a little fashionable repose. Not a thought is given to the thousands and thousands of struggling humanity in the crowded cities, or to the weary laborer on the farms by the votaries of Fishion; unless it be to wonder "how is the world the ceatures endure the heat," or, "why they exist at all."

The little newsboy who sings his morning and evening song in Winter's cold or Summer's heat; the weary woman who works in the crowded shop for the pritry pittance that is to keep breath not life-in herselt and perhaps a family of little ones; the toil-worn man who earns daily a sum not sufficient for the Iresh. Have the boiling water in a st alactual daily needs; the childless mother, the motherless child, the hungry, the sick, the helpless, the maimed, the blind, the miserable,-all are alike for-

But let the gay crowd seek as it may. Let money, time and strength be expended in the pursuit of that tangible yet intangible thing called happiness.

Let lovely sea-side resorts, beautiful valleys, and wild mountains be visited. Let every pleasure the world contains from the Orient to the Occident, from the North Pole to the South be tasted, yet the traveler will never know happiess unalloyed. There will be a longing unsatisfied, a prayer unanswered, a heart-hunger that all the joys of earth combined cannot appease. "Rachel will cry for her children and refuse to be comforted because they are not." The wild lament of "Absalom, oh, my son, Absalom, would I could have died for thee," hourly arises from stricken Davids over all the wide world. Joy and happiness are but mocking shadows, riches and power but fleeting phantoms till the traveler enters the Land of the Mysterious, the wonderful -a country not laid down in guidebooks, and which is entered by the 'fastest road on record." It is a land controlled by no corporation, governed by no laws of extortion. There the mother who has long mourned for her darling may once again press him to her heart, cover the little lips with kisses, feel once more the baby hands on her care-worn face, hear the childish prattle that has so long been hushed. Ah, what joy, what happiness supreme is hers! What crown, what glory, what wealth, can the world offer that she would exchange for this one brief moment of perfect bliss? There the maimed can walk, the blind see, the sick enjoy the freedom and blessings of health. There the cold are warm, the poor are rich, the hungry forget their hunger and cease to fear the fangs of the gaunt wolf who dogs their footsteps day and night-the wolf, Poverty. There the miserable are happy.

There, too, is the paradise of the great, the rich, the ambitious-the bad as well as the good; for in this wonderful land the rich become richer, the great greater and the ambitious more

There, too, are the plots and plans of the wicked hatched. Many an overtaxed city owes its burden to a visit those in power paid to this enchanting country. Many a king owes his crown, many a people great grievances, many a far-away Siberian exile his captivity, scores of down-trodden, over-burdened, under-paid men, women and children their condition to the wonderful effect this mysterious country produces upon those who visit it; for strange as it may seem, the qualities possessed by the difterent people who go there become intensified: Thus the generous become more liberal, while the oppression will become more oppressive, and feel a keener joy in his extortions than ever before.

This country is open alike to the king upon his throne, the beggar in his hut, the maiden in costly robes, the halfthe rich and the poor, the old and the Crusade Against Morphine.

The time is ripe, says the Syracuse Standard, for a crusade against morphine. As the narcotic is chiefly used by women, it will be proper for man to go forth in singing and praying bands beseeching woman to stop the horrid practice, and druggists to cease from selling the preparation to confirmed morphine inebriates. But, whatever, be the best means of combatting the evil, the curse of habitual indulgence orand upon society. Sometimes during protracted illness, sometimes taken up to abate a longing for intoxicating use of these drugs may be numbered by tens of thousands. Every druggist has them among his customers. Many of them steal into the store with a cau-tious look, as if taey feared they might be watched or their purpose would be read before they disclosed it; and oth-ers impart the business in a confidential tone, often attempting to convey the tone, often attempting to convey the impression that the narcotic is meant for another person. Nothing is more marked than the injurious effect which the practice exerts upon the moral facilities. The doses these people learn to bear are sufficient, perhaps, to kill an ordinary person, and the quantity is ncreased from month to month until the suicidal work is completed. The fatal effect of such familiarity of the orms of opium often appears in a start-ling way when persons addicted to opiu; eating prescribe their seloved medicine for others.

THE TRUE TEST.

The Merit of Religion, Government, Persons and Things Must Rest upon a Basis of Worth.

Christian at Work.

The true test of any religion is the effect is The true test of any religion is the effect it produces upon the lives of those who profess it. And, indeed, the test of real merit everywhere must be the power it possesses of accomplishing desirable results. In this age of the world men are not judged by what they claim to be able to do, but by what they can do; not by what they are reputed to be, but by what they are. Here is where the religion of our own country rises superior to the faith of Mohammedan or Hindoo lands; for while there is much hypocrisy in the Church, and far too much worldliness, there is yet an absence of those sensual and brutal elements which characterize the regions of Arabia and which characterize the regions of Arabia and which characterize the regions of Arabia and Ganges.

This principle is equally true in all other departments of life. The same rul: which applies to persons is equally applicable to things. Unquestioned merit must characterize them all, or they cannot be acceptable, much less popular. The clear and well arranged lecture delivered by Dr. Chas. Craig before the Metropolitan Scientific Arsociation appeared in the columns of this paper a short time since. In this lecture some new truths were brought to light bearing directly upon, and affecting the interests of, the entire community. These facts, as stated by the doctor in his lecture, have been discussed in the columns of the religious press to a considerable extent in the past, and that, too, by very prominent personages. A few years ago the Rev. J. E. Rankin, D. D., of Washiagton, who is prominently known among the lagton, who is prominently known among the Congregational denominations of the country, published an article upon the same subject which drew forth most bitter replies from Congregational denominations of the country, published an article upon the same subject which drew forth most bitter replies from prominent physicians, and in response to these articles Dr. Rankin published long communications in the New York Independent, the Boston Congregationalist and the Cateago Advance reiterating his former statements and strongly emphasizing them. In these articles Dr. Rankin frankly stated he was as strongly convinced of the effi say of the means used as he was that the Genesee river emptied into Lake Ontario. He further said: "I have known, too, of its use in similar cases by obvaicians of the highest character and standing, and I want, is the interest of humanity, to recommend Warner's Safe-K dacy and Liver Cure." Now while very few people are afflicted as severely as was Dr. Craig, or the cases Dr. Rankin refers to, still it is a lamentable fact that the great majority of people, in all parts of the land, are suffering to a greater or less extent from ill health and that this lack of health arises from either disordered kidneys or liver. Some additional facts, from the highest sources, of special interest upon a subject of such importance to the community have heretofore been collected by this paper, and are herewith given:

Rev. D. W. Bartine, M. D., D. D., is known in all parts of the land as a prominent and efficient leader in the Methodist denomination in speaking upon this same subject as shown in his own experience he said: "Some few months since I found myself suffering from a kidney difficulty which I knew to be the first stages of Bright's disease. By the use of a reliable test I found that my system was giving off aibumen, and in some instances in a coagulated state. I also suffered severely from dropsy, particularly about the ankles, together with slight pains about the kidneys, derangement of digestion and great dryness of the skim. I had at all times much thirst, and of course this was followed by gradual failing of strength. That was about the state of things when I com

In a comunication made by Rev. Dr. C. A. Harvey, the well known financial and educa-tional secretary of Howard university, Wash-ington, D. C., the doctor says:

"I have for the past few years been acquaint-"I have for the past few years been acquainted with the remedy known as Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure and with its remarkable curative efficacy in obstinate and so-called incurable cases of Bright's disease which occurred in this city. In some of these cases, which seemed to be in the last stages and had been given up by practitioners of both schools, the speedy cures which were wrought by this remedy seemed to be little less than miraculous. I am convinced that for Bright's disease in all its stages, including those first ease in all its stages, including those first symptoms of kidney troubles which are so easily overlooked, but are so fraught with danger, no remedy heretofore discovered can be held for one moment in comparison with this, and I hope that Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure may become as widely known and Liver Cure may become as widely known as is the existence of the maladies which it will care."

Rev. A. C. Kendrick, D. D., LL. D., who is Professor of Hebrew and Greek languages in the university of Rochester, N.Y., and who is one of the American revisors of the New Testament, in speaking of the effect which Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure had upon himself, stated most emphatically that he had received marked benefit from it, and he cordially recommended it to the use of others.

Rev. A. Bramley, pastor of the Arsenal street M. E. church, Watertown, N. Y., testified in a recent interview that the first few bottles of Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure had entirely removed the distinctive features of a severe kidney difficulty, and that while he had not been able to lie upon his back without great pain for more than five years, he now not only was able to do so, but slept soundly, at heartily and calls himself a well man.

Rev. A. P. Hill, of Shoeheel, N. C., having

he now not only was able to do so, but slept soundly, ate heartily and calls himself a well man.

Rev. A. P. Hill, of Shoeheel, N. C., having been troubled with a severe kidney and liver disease for a number of years, said: "I have been praying for relief for four years, and I got it in answer to prayer. May God blees the firm who manufacture Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure. Many of my friends have also used it with marked banefit, and I hope my testimony in its behalf may save the lives and relieve many who are now severely suffering from kidney or liver troubles in some of their many and dangerous forms."

Rev. P. F. Marklee, in waiting from Montgomery, Ala., said: "I have paid at least one 'housand dollars for doctors and medicine and never received any relief until I commenced taking Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure. I am too thankful to express in words the benefit this medicine has done my family and myself. I have been to the hot springs, sulphur springs and several other places noted for the curative properties of waters, but this great remeity did for me what everything else failed to do—it cured me. I hope the Good sather may crown the efforts of those who are manufacturing it, for the noble work they are dolug."

There are no more reliable en lorsements to be found in the land than those above given manufacturing it, for the noble work they are doing."

There are no more reliable en lorsements to be found in the land than those above given and coming from divines of such prominence they prove beyond a doubt the value of the great remedy of which they speak. It should also be remembered that Mr. H. H. Warner, the proprietor and manufacturer of this remedy, was himself cured by its use after having been given up to die by several physicians. So grateful was he for his remarkable cure that he determined the world should know of this remedy, and be therefore began its manufacture. Mr. Warner is also a prominent patron of other public enterprises and the scinces and by endowing the Warner Astrofomical Observatory at Rochester, as well as jomical Observatory at Rochester, as well as iomical Observatory at Rochester, as well as y his many other benefactions, has become nown to, and respected by the entire land his standing alone is an ample guarantee of the purity and worth of the remedy he makes, but the thousands of testimonials from all parts of America gratefully telling of the reliable to the same proves it beyond a question. As a result it is attracting great and universal attention throughout the entire country. No one fact has been more apparent in the part of the same attention throughout the entire country. No one fact has been more apparent in the part of the same attention throughout the entire country, he effore, a remedy has been found which not only cures the worst as well as all minor troubles of this nature, but also regulates, controls and keeps in perfect order these most important organs at all times, it is certainly cause for gratitude. This is just what has been done in thousands of cases in addition to those above mentioned, and it is what will be done in tens of thousands of other cases in the very near future.

Who should bow first? Some authorities insist that a gentleman should not bow to a lady until she bows to him. The author of the "American Code of Manners" says that this is all wrong: "A gentleman should always bow first to a lady, no matter whether she re-turns it or not. If he sees by her face that she does not wish to return it, he can refrain from bowing the next time." This is on the ground that "a lady par-ticularly an elderly one or a society leader perhaps have a many sequents. leader, perhaps, has so many acquaint-ances that she does not remember oil the young men who have been presented." This, however, does not seem to ed." This, however, does not seem to settle the question conclusively, for it may be that the young man has quite as many acquaintances as the lady, even if an elderly one. He may him-self, too, very likely be a society leader; in fact, a very large number of the leaders of society at the present time are or what would have been considered fifty years ago a comparatively immature Our own opinion is, and it has been arrived at after long reflection that both persons should bow simultan-eeusly. Perhaps, in the case of very near-sighted persons, a little latitude might be given, providing the fact of myopia can be clearly proved by medi-cal evidence. There is, however, always danger in these exceptions to social rules, and therefore it may be safer for near-sighted persons to bow in all cases of doubt, accustoming themselves to this with uniform courtesy whether they are themselves recognized

Are among the most formidable known. Diabetes, Bright's disease, gravel and other complaints of the urinary organs are not ordinarily cured in severe cases, but they may be averted by timely medication. A useful stimulant of the urinary glands has ever been found in Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a medicine which not only affords the requisite stimulus when they become inactive, but increases their vigor and secretive power. By increasing the activity of the kidneys and bladder, this medicine has the additional effect of expelling from the blood impurities which it is the peculiar office of those organs to eliminate and strengthener of the bowels, an invigorant of the stomach, and a matchless remedy for billiousness and fever and ague. If the crabbed old bachelor who uttered this sentiment could but witness the intense thought, deep study and thorough investigation of women in determining the best medicines to keep their families well, and would note their sagacity and wisdom in selecting Hop Bitters as the best and demonstrating it by keeping their families in perpetual health, at a mere nominal expense, he would be forced to acknowledge that such sentiments are baseless and false.

THE GREAT MEDICAL WONDER. There is no Sore it will not Heal, No Pain it will not Subdue.

What Druggists Say of Hamlin's Wizard Oil. GENTLEMEN:—Never in our experience has a medicine had such sale as the Wizard Oil. They come twenty miles for it. When your advertising wagon left our town there was a perfect rush for it, and the sale has been good ever since.

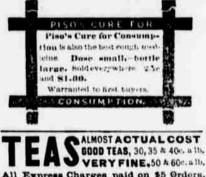

E. J. Moore & Co., Champlain, N.Y.

GENTLEMEN:—We have never sold a better preparation, nor one which has given better satisfaction than Wisard Oil.

BARRETT & CURTISS, Albion, N.Y.

GENTLEMEN:—I am selling your goods in both of my drug stores, and there is no medicine I handle that gives the satisaction that Hamlin's Wizard Oil does.

Respectfully yours, JAMES P. TIBBETTS, Preston, IOWA.
